

Marina Cervantes, MD

PRIMARY CARE PHYSICIAN

I have always wanted to become a primary care physician. I joined CareMore Health in 2019, and I am grateful to provide high-quality healthcare to the Norwalk/Downey communities I was raised in. I love the long-term relationships I develop with my patients. Medicine allows me to support and guide my patients through all stages of their lives – from tackling diabetes to beating cancer – and everything in between. When I'm not working, I enjoy baking, running, traveling and being a fun aunt to my many nieces and nephews.

Education: Bachelor's degree in Ecology and Evolutionary Biology from Princeton University

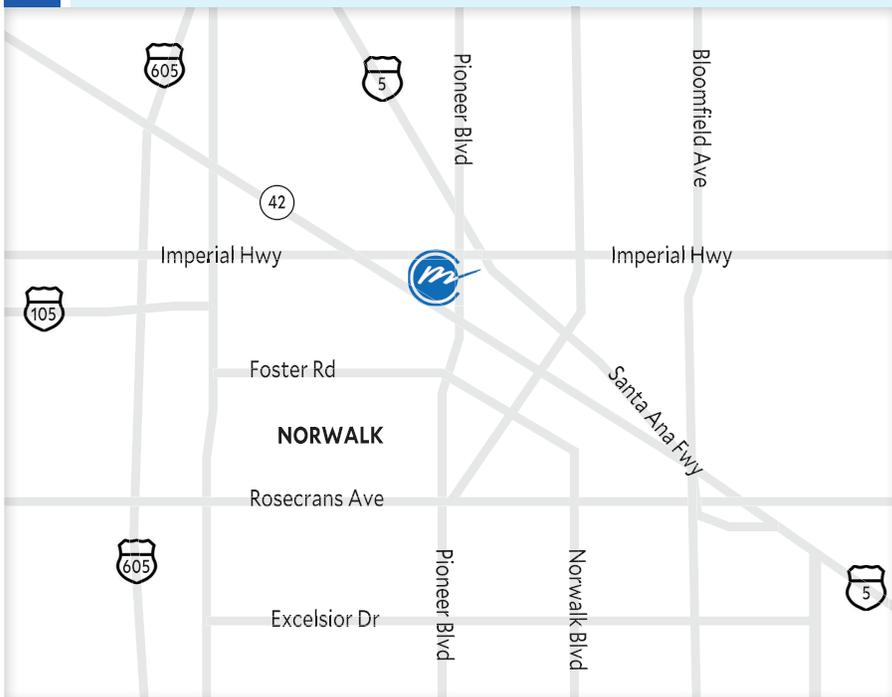

Medical degree from University of Cincinnati College of Medicine

Residency: University of California, San Francisco

Office Languages: English, Spanish

“ I approach my visits as a conversation, where I focus on listening to my patients and addressing their concerns while providing the most up-to-date medical care. ”
